

Micro-Gesture: Rubbing eyes

User

Please describe the image sequence, and describe the person's micro gesture. (Open-Ended Question)

The sequence of images shows a person sitting at a table during a press conference, with microphones and sponsor logos in the background. The micro gesture being displayed here is the hand touching/rubbing the face, particularly the eyes and forehead.

User

Please describe the image sequence, and which better describes this micro gesture? Crossing fingers? Folding arms? Rubbing eyes? Shake double shoulders? Touching or scratching head? (Multiple-Choice Question)

Based on this sequence, the micro gesture that best describes the person's actions is 'rubbing eyes.' The other gestures listed (crossing fingers, folding arms, shaking double shoulders, touching or scratching head) are not depicted in these images.

User

Please describe the image sequence, and determine if the person is rubbing eyes? (Judgment Question)

The images depict a person at a press conference, seated behind a microphone with sponsorship logos in the background. The sequence of images appears to show the person in a moment of emotional stress or fatigue, as indicated by the hand position near the face. The person's hand covers the face almost entirely, which is consistent with the action of rubbing one's eyes.
